How to read this guide

This guide follows a specialist from their application to their daily work in the app. Each flow has the screens as designed, the steps, the rules the system applies, the messages the specialist receives, and what to do when something goes wrong. The staff side of the same moments (reviewing an application, approving a payout) is in the Admin guide.

Screens. The pictures are the design renders, with fallback fonts and a dashed box where the logo goes. Every screen also exists in French.

Numbers in brackets, such as [15] minutes, are settings with that default; numbers without brackets are fixed decisions.

One app. Seekers and specialists use the same app. After sign-in, a specialist account opens the specialist shell: Today, Calendar, Notes, Earnings and Profile.

FLOW 1

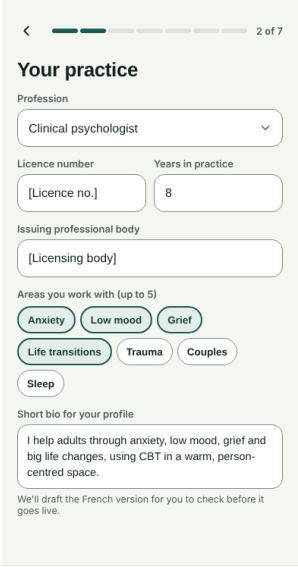

Applying to join Solace

A specialist applies in seven steps: account, practice, languages, documents, sessions and prices, weekly hours and payout details. Progress is saved after each step, and nothing is public until Solace has verified everything.

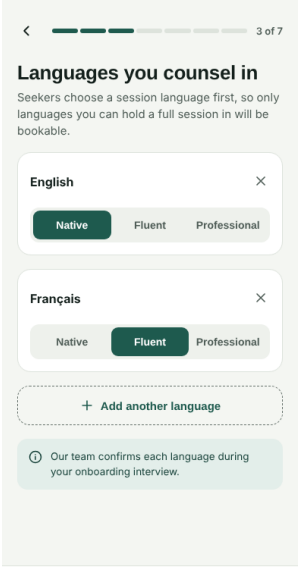

Who	Licensed clinical psychologists, psychiatrists and counsellors. Gynaecologists and endocrinologists are in the catalogue but disabled until physical-health specialists are confirmed.

2: your practice

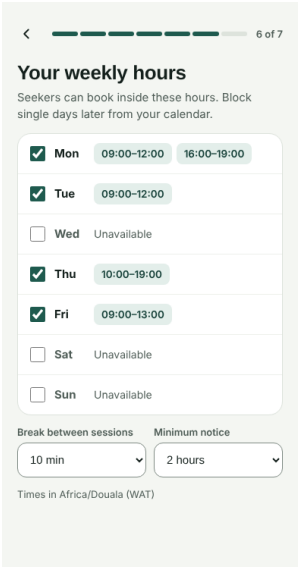

3: languages

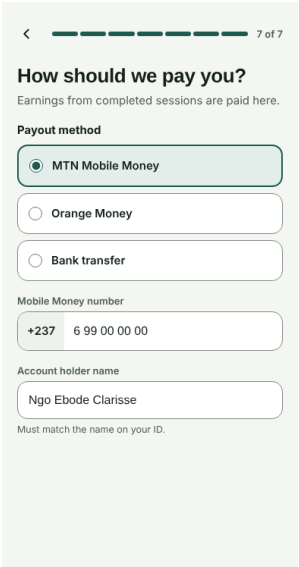

4: documents

5: sessions and prices

6: weekly hours

7: payouts

Step by step

1. Account
   Full name as on the licence, professional email, phone number, and agreement to the Specialist terms and the Code of conduct. The phone or email is proven with a one-time code; there is no password (D24), so the design's password field is not in the app.

2. Your practice
   Profession, licence number, years in practice, the issuing professional body, up to 5 areas they work with (the same help topics seekers choose), and a short bio in their language.

3. Languages
   Each language they can hold a full session in, with a level: Native, Fluent or Professional. Solace confirms each one in the onboarding interview.

4. Documents
   Professional licence, national ID or passport (front and back), a profile photo (shown to seekers) and an optional CV. Only the verification team can open them; they are encrypted.

5. Sessions and prices
   Audio and/or video, each with a length (30, 50 or 80 minutes) and a price within the allowed range. The screen shows what they receive after Solace's fee.

6. Weekly hours
   Hours per weekday, the break between sessions (10, 15 minutes or none) and the minimum notice (2, 12 or 24 hours). Times are in Africa/Douala unless they set another zone.

7. Payouts
   MTN Mobile Money or Orange Money number and the account holder's name, which must match the ID. Submit application.

Rules behind this flow

- Prices: [5,000] to [20,000] FCFA per session. Solace's fee is [20]%, taken when the session completes (D27, D28).
- Only languages verified at Professional level or above can be booked (D16).
- The second-language bio is drafted by Solace (a reviewer, or an AI draft the reviewer checks) and the specialist confirms it before the profile goes live (D30).
- Bank transfer waits for a spec of which bank details to collect (payoutBankTransfer flag).

FLOW 2

While the application is reviewed

The specialist sees where their application stands: submitted, licence and ID check, onboarding interview, profile live. Staff book the interview, may ask for a change, and two staff members approve.

Who	Applicants
Screens	Application under review
Phase	1 · the interview picker needs specialistInterviewPicker

Application under review

Step by step

1. Submitted
   The application waits for a reviewer (status SUBMITTED, then UNDER_REVIEW).
2. Licence and ID check
   A reviewer checks the licence with the issuing body and the identity document, and ticks each item.
3. Change requested
   If something is missing, the reviewer sends it back with a reason the applicant reads in the app. They fix it and submit again.
4. Onboarding interview
   A short video call that also confirms each language and its level. Staff set the time; the specialist gets a push.

5 Check the second-language bio
Before going live, the specialist reads the bio Solace drafted in their other language and confirms or edits it (Profile tab).

6 Approved
One reviewer proposes approval after all six items are verified; a second staff member confirms. The profile goes live in search.

Rules behind this flow

- States: DRAFT, SUBMITTED, UNDER_REVIEW, APPROVED, REJECTED, SUSPENDED (D26).
- Approval takes two people; any change to a verified item withdraws a pending proposal (D29). Rejection and change requests take one person.
- Search lists the profile only once the bio exists in English and French and the specialist has confirmed Solace's draft (D31).

- Pick an interview time stays off (specialistInterviewPicker) until someone specifies where interview times come from; staff book the interview instead (D25).

Today

Today opens with the next session: when it starts, who with (the seeker's chosen name, or Guest), whether it is the first session, Join from 10 minutes before and, with AI assist on, Open the brief. Below are the rest of the day's sessions.

Step by step

1. Accepting new bookings
   A switch under the date. Off pauses new bookings: the profile stays, but no free times are offered and nothing new can be booked. Sessions already booked stay.
2. Up next
   Time, audio or video, the session language, and the seeker's label with which session together this is.
3. Join
   Disabled until 10 minutes before ("Join at 17:50"), then opens the waiting room.
4. Open the brief (AI assist on)

FLOW 4

Calendar, hours and time off

The calendar shows the week's sessions, open slots and blocked time. Weekly hours decide when seekers can book; single days or hours are blocked as time off.

Step by step

1. Read the week

2. Change weekly hours
   Weekly hours opens the same editor as the application. Existing bookings are kept.
3. Block time off
   Pick the dates and times. Seekers can no longer book them; it does not cancel sessions already booked.

Rules behind this flow

- A slot respects the minimum notice and the break between sessions.
- While a seeker pays, the time is held for 10 minutes and nobody else can take it.

Messages people receive

When	Channel	Message (English)
New booking	Push	New session: {date} at {time} · {modality} · {language}.
Seeker cancelled	Push	The session on {date} at {time} was cancelled by the seeker.

If something goes wrong

- The specialist must cancel a booked session: the seeker gets a full refund and is asked to pick a new time. Do it as early as possible; Support can help if the app does not allow it.

FLOW 5

Preparing for a session: the brief and prep notes

With AI assist on, each booking has a one-page brief: the booking's facts, whether the health check raised a safety flag, whether the seeker consented to the AI scribe, the health check summary they chose to share, and their consented tracking trend. The specialist can also keep private prep notes.

1 Open the brief

2 Read the top
When, audio or video and language; Guest or Registered; First session; "No safety flags in the health check" or that it stopped at the safety question; AI scribe consented or not.

3 Health check
Shown only when the seeker ticked Share for this booking: when it was shared, a plain summary (what they want help with, for how long, how much it affects daily life, the suggestion), and the screener totals with their published bands.

4 Tracking data
Shown only when the seeker has a sharing grant for this specialist: lines of what was logged over the last 14 days. With AI on, two or three sentences may be worded by AI from those lines only, marked as such.

5 Prep notes
Private notes for this booking. Only this specialist reads them; nothing else does.

6 Join
Opens from 10 minutes before.

Rules behind this flow

- No AI ever reads health check answers. The summary is built by rules from the shared answers (D8, D56).
- Every read of health check answers or tracking is recorded in the audit log as the specialist's read.
- Screener totals and bands are for the specialist only; seekers never see them.
- Prep notes are deleted if either person erases their account.

FLOW 6

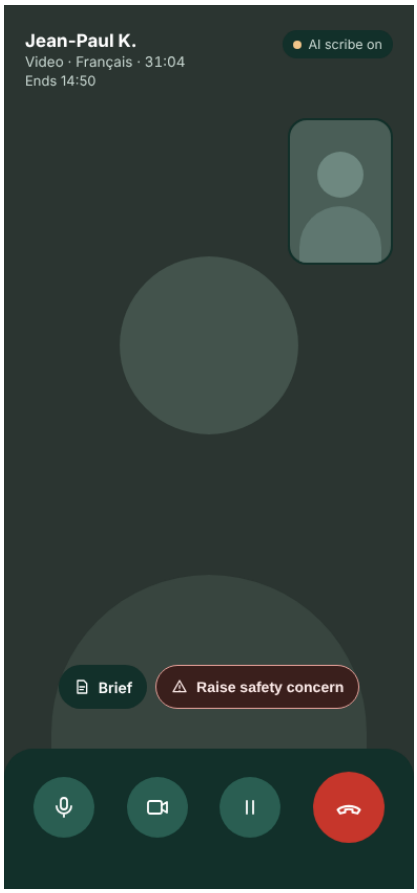

Running the session

The specialist joins from the waiting room. If the scribe is on and both consented, either person can turn it off for this session. The call holds on weak connections and keeps a dropped person's place for 2 minutes.

Step by step

1. Waiting room
   Microphone and connection checks. When the scribe can run: "AI scribe for this session" with a switch to turn it off for this session.

2. Join now
   The session starts when both are in the room. The seeker may be in the app or, when phone dial-in is on, on a phone call.

3. During the session
   "AI scribe on" shows while audio is recorded. Turning the scribe off stops the recording at once.

4 Raise safety concern
If the specialist is worried about the seeker's safety: pick what it is about (suicidal thoughts, self-harm, acute anxiety, violent thoughts, substance crisis, risk-taking or something else), add a short note and Alert the on-call team. The crisis queue gets an alert at once, routed like any other.

5 End
The session completes when the room closes after both attended, or [15] minutes after the scheduled end.

Rules behind this flow

- Audio is recorded only when the flag is on, the seeker is registered, both have AI session notes consent, and neither turned it off for this session (D57).
- Participants join the media server as "seeker" and "specialist"; no names go to it (D36).
- No-shows: [15] minutes after the start, if only the specialist joined, the seeker is a no-show and the specialist keeps the session's earnings; if only the seeker joined, the specialist is a no-show and the seeker is refunded in full.

FLOW 7

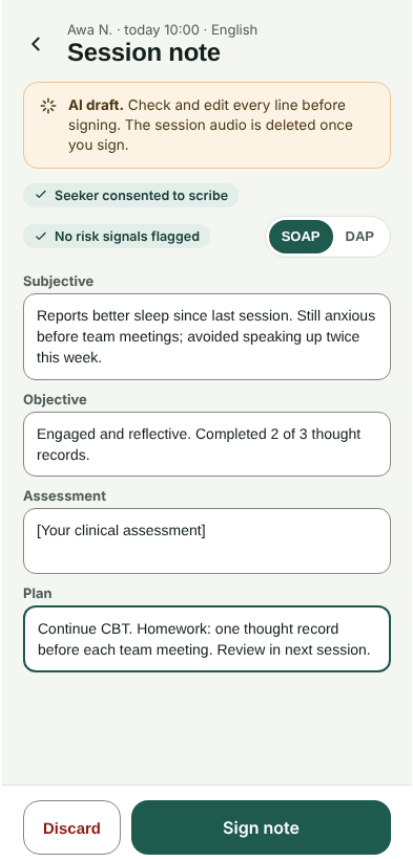

Session notes

After a session with the scribe on, a SOAP draft waits in Notes: the AI writes only what was said and always leaves the assessment empty. The specialist checks and edits every line, writes the assessment, and signs. Signing deletes the transcript and the audio.

Notes

Review note draft

Step by step

1 Open Notes
To review (with the count) and Signed. Search finds words in the notes. Each row: the seeker, when, format, language, AI draft, and the first line.

2 Open a draft
"AI draft. Check and edit every line before signing. The session audio is deleted once you sign." It shows that the seeker consented, and whether risk signals were flagged in the session.

3 Choose SOAP or DAP
Switching drafts the note again from the transcript in the other format, replacing the current text.

4 Edit and write the assessment
Subjective, Objective (or Data), Assessment, Plan. The assessment is the specialist's clinical judgement and always starts empty.

5 Sign note
Available once every section is written. The note becomes read-only; the transcript and the audio are deleted.

6 Or discard
Deletes the draft, the transcript and the audio.

7 Assign homework
From a signed note, see Setting homework.

Rules behind this flow

- Transcription runs only on a model hosted by Solace; session audio never goes to a foreign model without the transfer authorisation (D56, D57).
- Risk signals in a transcript are shown to the specialist and do not raise a crisis alert: the specialist was there and decides.
- A draft not signed within 7 days is deleted with its transcript and audio.
- Notes and transcripts are encrypted. Every read is in the audit log. Staff screens never show notes.
- If transcription or drafting fails, or the AI scribe is not live, the specialist gets an empty draft to write themselves.

Messages people receive

When	Channel	Message (English)
Note draft ready	Push	A note draft is waiting for your review.

Not live yet / waiting on a decision

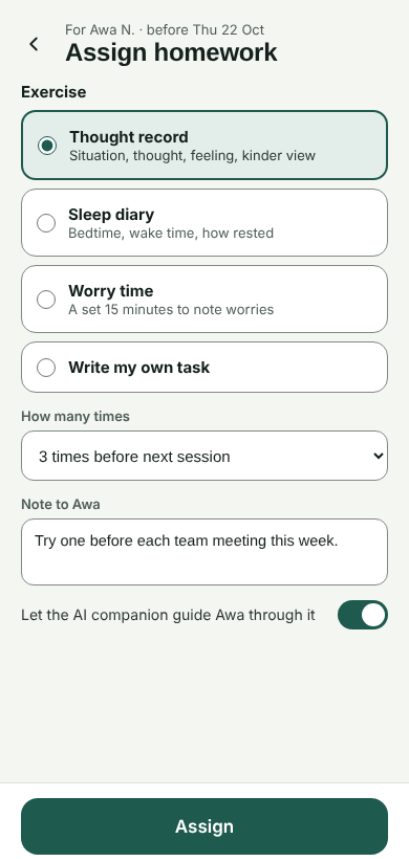

- Whether Solace is the record keeper for signed notes is an open legal question. For now a signed note stays with its specialist, and is deleted if either person erases their account.

FLOW 8

Setting homework

After a session with a registered seeker, the specialist sets homework: a thought record, a sleep diary, worry time or their own task, a number of times, daily or once, with a note, and optionally guided by the AI companion.

Who	The specialist of a completed session with a registered seeker
Screens	Assign homework
Phase	4 · seekers see it with the companion flag

Assign homework

Step by step

1. Pick the exercise
   Thought record (situation, thought, feeling, kinder view); Sleep diary (bedtime, wake time, how rested); Worry time (a set 15 minutes to note worries); or Write my own task.
2. How many times
   A number of times before the next session (1 to 14), Daily, or Once.
3. Write a note
   A message to the seeker, shown with the homework.
4. Let the AI companion guide them
   On by default. The companion walks the seeker through each step and checks every answer for risk first.

5 Assign
It is due before the next booked session, or after [7] days.

Rules behind this flow

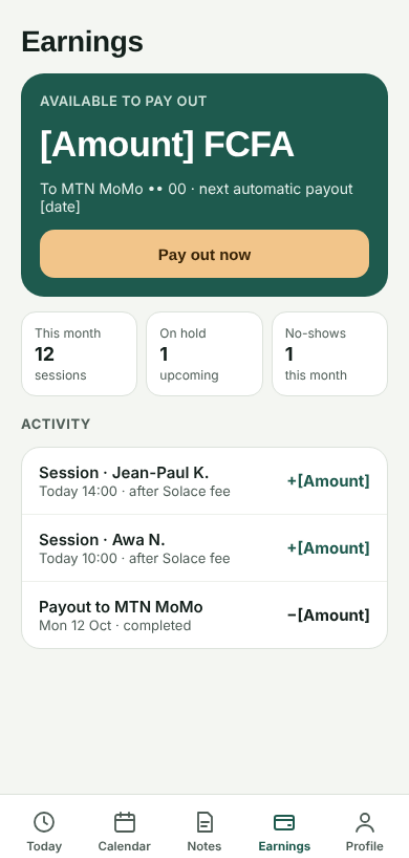

- Homework can be set only after the session has ended, and only for a registered seeker (not a guest).
- The specialist sees how many records are done, never the seeker's words.
- If an answer shows a risk signal, the companion stops, opens urgent help for the seeker and raises a crisis alert.
- The seeker gets a neutral push: "You have a new task from your specialist."

FLOW 9

Earnings and payouts

Earnings show what is available, what is on hold for upcoming sessions, no-shows and every session and payout. Payouts go automatically twice a month to the mobile money account on file.

2. This month
   Sessions, on hold (upcoming paid sessions), no-shows.
3. Activity
   Each completed session after Solace's fee, and each payout.

Rules behind this flow

- Money is held from payment until the session completes, then released to the specialist less Solace's [20]% fee; the fee in force at payment time applies (D35).
- If the seeker cancels late or does not show up, what the policy does not refund goes to the specialist like a completed session, less the fee.
- Payout runs cover the 1st to the 15th and the 16th to the month's end. Finance submits each run and a different Finance member or a Super admin approves it (D14, D35).
- Items with an open dispute or failed payout details are held out of a run.

If something goes wrong

- Payout failed: usually a wrong or closed wallet number. The specialist corrects Payout details in Profile; Finance retries in the next run.

Not live yet / waiting on a decision

- Pay out now is locked off: an off-cycle payout would skip the two-person run (D35).
